Mindful Coaching

Introduction

'Mindfulness has important contributions to make to coaching which will enable you to become more efficient and productive'

'Most managers and leaders are currently TIME POOR, this experiential programme will help you create more space to be able to work ON the development of...your Colleagues; the Team; the Department and the Organisation rather than just IN IT'

Coaching is fundamentally concerned with the enhancement of human self-regulation. As research is increasingly showing, mindfulness is a multifaceted psychological phenomena that reduces emotional and behavioural reactivity and supports adaptive, goal-directed self-regulation, which in today's world can benefit you as follows...

The more detailed our understanding of mindfulness, the more effective we can be in using it to enhance the coachees/teams/customers/suppliers capacity to self-regulate.

The benefits are as follows:-

- Enhanced mental and physical health
- Psychological well-being
- Behavioural regulation
- Interpersonal dynamics
- Less emotional disturbance and psychological distress
- More benign stress appraisals and less avoidant coping
- Greater vitality
- Higher levels of mindfulness results in greater relationship satisfaction
- Lower emotional reactivity
- More constructive responses to relationship stress

'Mindful Coaching practice results in purposeful and positive change'

'Better understanding and engagement with our people allows to us to use human connectivity to face adversity together, develop high performing teams which embrace the core skills of emotional intelligence and human motivation which are results orientated and not emotion led'

The ability to achieve FOCUS together makes the workplace journey less complicated and more achievable by developing a culture of joint accountability which is underpinned by developmental leadership (developmental leadership is when coaching and engagement are at the fore, with excellence being achieved through the joint endeavour of the individual/team through inspiration and motivation) 'Goodwin 12/17'

How can mindfulness help in coaching?

Let's say for example, you're seeing a coach to help you deal with change effectively and together you've set action steps to achieve this to help you reach your goal of driving change through over a period of time.

In this context, mindfulness as part of a coaching programme can be extremely supportive in a number of ways as it offers the following outcomes:

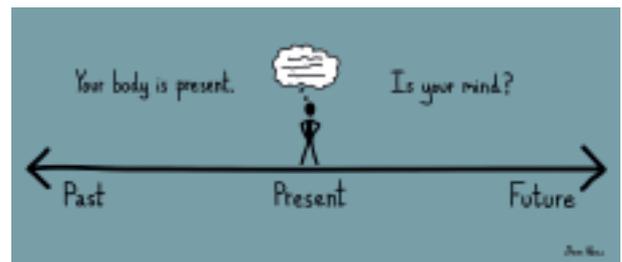

- Develop greater self-compassion.
- More accepting and forgiving of themselves when they experience difficulty and are less likely to engage with self-critical mind chatter that leads to goal inhibiting behaviours.
- Understand that experience is constantly in flux and this helps them to keep going.
- People who regularly practice mindfulness are better equipped to deal with emotional and physical discomfort, they experience an increase in resilience that expands out into other areas of life.
- People who practice mindfulness have greater concentration and can stay focussed for longer.

In any area of life where emotional or physical discomfort is experienced or where extra focus or resilience is needed, mindful coaching is really supportive.

Who's it for:

Leaders and managers at all levels who need to adopt a developmental leadership style to enable them to work with their colleagues/teams/customers/suppliers more effectively

Leaders and managers who have not been through coaching skills development before

The benefits to you and your organisation:

- Whether you have been through a Mindful Leadership programme with us or not this course would be really beneficial as an area of further development which will enable you to develop your mindfulness skills further ...thus enhancing your Mindful Leadership style
- Create greater personal resilience to thrive under pressure using coaching as a driver for change
- Develop higher self-awareness and how you interact with others
- Remain focused on values, priorities and results when others get derailed in any situation
- Build stronger personal impact, influence and effectiveness through the use of mindful coaching in all aspects of your work and personal life
- Achieve better balance in your general outlook through thinking differently
- Enhance the way you manage relationships, judgement, problem solving and decision making in high pressure situations through the sharing of the load
- Find ways to be more in tune with yourself, other people and your organisational context by being more self-aware

Open residential courses in the Lake District with Results Driven Group

What makes the results driven experience different from any other residential course?

Firstly we will start with the location...

The northern Lake District around Keswick and Derwent Water is arguably one of the most beautiful areas in the UK, it does not matter which time of year you are there, the panorama is always changing and the views are always stunning...

Secondly we use nature as a metaphor for learning...

We believe that you think and work differently according to the environment you are exposed to and work in, we use all of the elements of nature to enhance the learning experience and take you out on each day of the programme to experience learning outdoors...☺

“All of the activities we use are safe and are tailored to the capabilities of each group”

Earth – the landscape around us, the Mountains, Valleys and different vistas according to the seasons

Air – the different forces that the wind can create and the effect on the landscape that it has is awe inspiring!!

Fire – the strength of the sun and difference it can make to a view or an experience or how you feel allows you to reflect and look at things from different perspectives

Water – the lakes and the rain, the background vistas that you can embrace in the different seasons make this a stunning place to learn

Client testimonial

Fantastic way to learn and improve your skills. Environment unbelievable, enthusiastic trainer and the chance to meet an interesting group of people to exchange views and theories.

Debbie Frisker

Thirdly, the delegate experience is completely different...

Normally on a residential course you would just turn up at 0930 in the morning and then go home at 1600 back to your Hotel, as part of the programme we spend time learning together, undertaking activities together, eating together and most of all having FUN, one delegate recently described this as Homeliness, and that he has never come across this type of experience before on a training course...

Client testimonial

A fast moving inspirational course which utilises a range of teaching methods in beautiful surroundings...

Lisa Aitken

And finally the networking aspect...

This is something you can never recreate on a closed course programme, when you mix up clients who come from the public, private and third sectors, who have had completely different life experiences, different perspectives of how things work and job roles – then anything can happen!!, it is usually pretty special and we have seen long lasting friendships developed over the time that they spend with us in the Lakes...

Your accommodation whilst in Keswick...

We have 3 beautiful Houses in Keswick where you will stay whilst on your residential course in the Lakes, you will have your own bedroom and you will be fully catered for as well over the period of your stay...

If you would like to see the properties, then please visit; www.newlandshousekeswick.co.uk for further information

Hopefully this will give you an insight to why the results driven learning experience is different...

Regards
